WEDNESDAY WEEKLY WISDOM!

"PRESENT"

Today is a gift...that is why we call it the present.

Present circumstances do not determine where you go..they merely determine where you start.

Don't let the past steal your present.

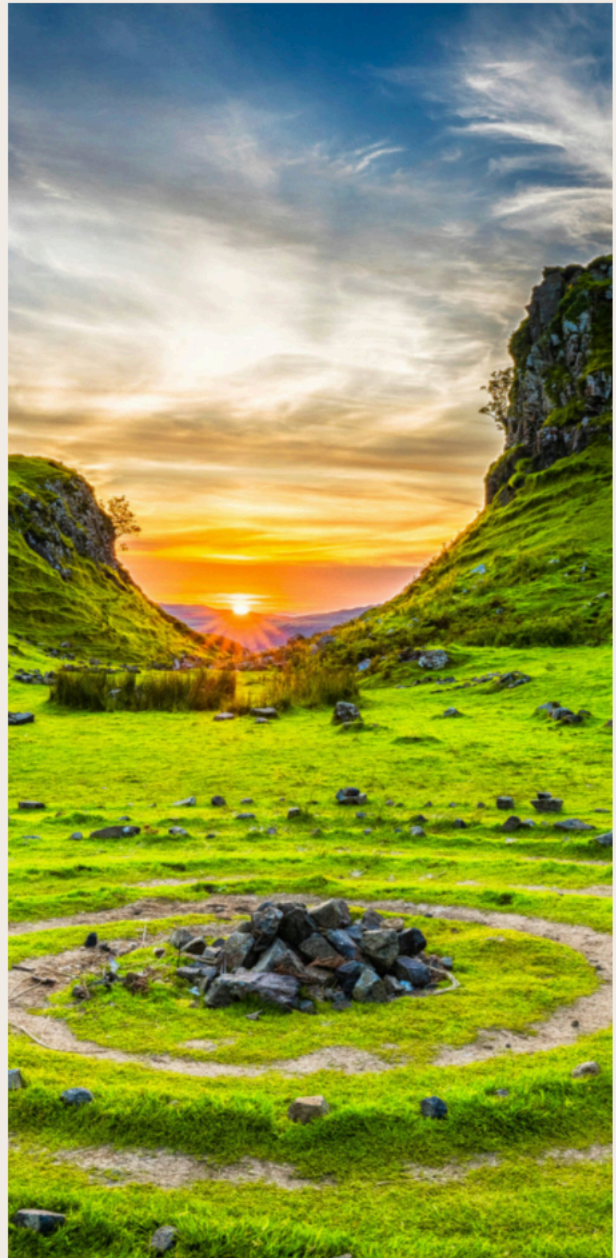

The present moment is always full of infinite possibilities.

Those who control the present control the future.

The more grateful we are the more present we become.

True happiness is...to enjoy the present without anxious dependence upon the future.

The only thing we can control is the present...not the past nor the future.
